ANSCOMB TO SEEK THIRD CIVIC TERM

Announces Candidature for Office of Mayor at Request of Delegation

WILL SUMMON PUBLIC MEETING ON POLICIES

Ratepayers Stress Need of Man of Experience to Head Administration

Responding to insistent demands by members of a group of representative business and professional men, numbering about fifty, Mayor Herbert Anscomb has consented to allow his name to go before the electorate of the City of Victoria as a candidate for re-election as the city's chief magistrate for 1931.

The delegation, which received his warmest reception at noon, stressed the importance of having Mr. Anscomb continue in office for another term because of the present situation, which, the delegation felt, required careful handling.

AN IMPORTANT YEAR

The delegation further stated its desire to have at the head of the city's affairs a man of experience in civic administration at a time when the greatest possible economy should be practiced without hampering in any way the natural growth and industrial progress of the community. Members of the delegation also pointed out that Victoria, like other cities in the Dominion, was passing through a period of business depression, and that every care would have to be exercised during the coming year.

GIVES ASSURANCE

His Worship, in replying to the delegation, thanked the members for the confidence they had placed in him and also for the co-operation he had been given by the members of his present board of aldermen. He expressed his desire to serve the ratepayers and the citizens of Victoria if it was their wish. In declaring his candidature, Mr. Anscomb said he would not define his policy at this time, but that a public meeting would be held shortly to discuss municipal issues.

Mayor Anscomb was first elected as head of the city's administration in a three-cornered contest for the 1929 term, and was re-elected by acclamation on the 1930 term. Prior to serving as Mayor of Victoria, he was for three years Reeve of Oak Bay.

Condition of Hamaguchi Is More Hopeful

TOKYO, Nov. 15.—Continued improvement after a good night of rest and the failure of any sign of complications developing, brought hope to Japan this morning that Premier Hamaguchi would recover from the wound inflicted yesterday by Tameo Sagaya. Twenty-three, supposedly demerol or misadvised patriot.

A bulletin issued from the hospital at 10 a.m. today said there was no sign of complications at that time, and his physicians announced they considered his condition hopeful.

His mind continued clear, physicians said, and he questioned his nurses about his assailant.

The cabinet, in session this morning, named Foreign Minister Hirota as acting premier during Hamaguchi's incapacity.

Business Is Resumed In Cuban Metropolis

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—Cuba passed quietly its second day of martial law, decreed yesterday by President Machado following upon three days of rioting in the capital and at Santiago.

With heavily armed soldiers patrolling the streets, challenging all suspicious persons and breaking in any attempt at gatherings, the streets of the Cuban metropolis lost their deserted appearance and business was resumed in full.

Small Craft Ends Hazardous Ocean Trip at Nanaimo

E. A. Wilson, Leader of Theosophical Sect on Valdez Island, Sails From England to This Coast in Small Fishing Boat, Accompanied by Crew of Three

Supply of Food and Water Ran Out

CONCLUDING a most amazing and hazardous voyage from England to this coast—that for daring and adventure amass of the fanciful undertakings of a Henry Thrunder, or a Clark Russell story—E. A. Wilson, picturesque leader of the Aquarian Foundation, a theosophical sect located in Cedar district, near Boat Harbor and on Valdez Island, this week brought a small sailing vessel of twenty-five tons to anchor at Boat Harbor. His crew consisted of three, and they faced all the dangers of a trip half way round the world without the assistance of auxiliary power.

The Briton-built little boat Lady Royal left England in March under Wilson's command. At one time in their adventurous voyage the crew were short of both water and food and for two weeks had to subsist on short rations. Just as their supplies were exhausted and they were hundreds of miles from land, the steamer liner Wilhelmshaven hove in sight and stopped in answer to the signals of the Lady Royal. The steamer replenished their stock of food and water, and they continued their way.

CROSSED THE ATLANTIC

The Lady Royal crossed the Bay of Biscay late in March, headed for the Canary Islands. From the Canaries the little sailing boat set a course across the Atlantic, through the Caribbean Sea, stopping at Antigua and Jamaica, and on to the Panama Canal. Through the canal the sturdy little craft made her way to start the long trip up the coast.

She entered the Strait of Juan de Fuca, and here, according to Captain Wilson—or Brother Twelve, as he is known to the faithful of the Aquarian cult—he encountered his most strenuous difficulties in navigation. The Strait was heavy with fog, and there was insufficient wind to fill the sail. He was in danger not only of shipping, but of being driven on shore. Assistance was given him by United States coast-guard preventive boats, and, although he failed to put in to William Head quarantine station for pratique, he managed to make his home locality at Boat Harbor. From Boat Harbor he went to Nanaimo, where he is now residing.

IS STANCH CRAFT

The Lady Royal is of the Briton fishing boat type, staunch of build and designed for battling with heavy seas. She has been fitted out as a yacht.

Captain Wilson is an experienced navigator. Some years ago he resided in Victoria, being in the employ of an express company. Later he went to sea, and for a number of years commanded the Yacht Sessa as an officer of ships. About five years ago he returned to British Columbia as the head of the Aquarian Foundation. He recruited many wealthy adherents to his doctrines, and established at Cedar, near Boat Harbor, a settlement where expensive homes were constructed, and where a House of Mystery was raised.

THREE SHIPS SPEED TO SINKING VESSEL

Greek Steamer Yeroocarras on Rocks in Chilean Waters—Crew Needs Assistance

MAOALLANES, Chile, Nov. 14.—Three ships were rushing through storm-tossed seas tonight to aid the sinking Greek steamer Yeroocarras, which went on the rocks yesterday at Cape Upright in Bay El Defonso.

Radio messages from the stricken vessel said all members of the crew were alive but urgently needed assistance. Great waves were breaking over the ship and lifeboats could not be launched.

The steamer Araucano, 170 miles away, and the Chileo, are steaming for the Yeroocarras, the name of which is also given as Gerocarras. The entire Straits of Magellan were in the grip of a fierce gale today.

FOUR DEAD IN MADRID RIOTS

Mounted Police Charge Crowd as Workmen Hurl Stones at Officers

SABRES SWUNG FREELY

MADRID, Nov. 14.—With a suddenness which left the city aghast, a series of labor riots exploded in the business section today, and within half an hour four men had been killed, a dozen seriously wounded and fifty others injured.

Thousands of workmen poured into the streets, augmenting a crowd gathered for funeral services for four workers who perished yesterday in a building collapse. The demonstration began as a protest against the erection of flimsy buildings which endangered the lives of workmen, but it developed quickly into a vicious battle.

Mounted police charged the crowd as the cry "Viva revolution" was raised, and as the rioters fung stones at the officers, sabres were swung freely. Merchants hastened to raise iron shutters and lock their doors as the mob stoned shops and offices.

Then, as quickly as it had begun, the fight was over and the rioters were routed.

The trouble came just as the city had settled into contemplation of more peaceful days to come, following the king's endorsement, two days ago, of plans for the first parliamentary elections Spain has had in seven years.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE ENDS TO MEET AGAIN AT OTTAWA TO CONSIDER PROTECTION

Many Important Constitutional Changes Effectuated by Meeting of Premiers

DOMINIONS SUGGEST GOVERNORS-GENERAL

No Advance Made in Solving Economic Questions Submitted to Gathering

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Imperial Conference, upon which the attention of the far-flung Dominions of the British Empire have been focused for the past six weeks, ended today. Many questions of constitutional importance developed from the "equal status" pronouncement of the 1926 conference, were clarified, but the hopes of the partners in the British Commonwealth that the gathering would evolve something tangible in the way of economic betterment of trade relations within that Commonwealth were met with disappointment.

The outstanding accomplishment in this field was the decision to adjourn the present plenary meeting to have the economic discussion resumed at Ottawa at some convenient time within the next twelve months. This proposal was made by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, at the opening of the conference.

RESULTS OF CONCLAVE

The tangible results of the Imperial Conference may be summarized as follows:

Great Britain will preserve existing preferences for Dominion products for the next three years. These include automobiles, tobacco, sugar, canned and dried fruits, cocoa, coffee and wine.

Further trade discussions will take place at Ottawa.

A voluntary Empire judicial tribunal will be established where questions at issue between Dominions may be settled.

The Colonial Laws Validity Act of 1865 will be repealed. This act provided that the enactments of the Dominions which were "repugnant" to the British Act of 1865.

QUEBEC SPEAKER FAILS TO RALLY

Hon. Adela Turgeon, Presiding Officer of Legislative Council, Dies

WAS LONG IN POLITICS

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Unable to rally from the serious illness that sent him to his bed only a few days ago, Hon. Adela Turgeon, speaker of the Quebec Legislative Council, died at 5:25 o'clock this morning, with members of his family about him.

Hon. Mr. Turgeon, an important figure in the Provincial Liberal party, was before he succeeded to power thirty-three years ago, was Speaker of the Upper House since his appointment to that chamber in 1909. Since that time he has remained in political retirement.

Mr. Turgeon was born in Beaumont, Quebec, on December 28, 1863, a son of Damase Turgeon, farmer and merchant. Educated at Laval College and Laval University, he became a lawyer in 1887, and then plunged into politics. Mr. Turgeon held portfolios in three Governments. In 1897, when Hon. Gabriel Marchand led the Liberals to victory and established the Liberal regime, Mr. Turgeon became Minister of Mines and Colonization. From 1900 to 1905 he was Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Secretary. In 1905 Mr. Turgeon joined the Gouin Government as Minister of Mines, Lands and Fisheries.

In 1907 he married Marie Eugene Samson, daughter of Etienne Samson, the shipbuilder. His widow survives him, there being no children.

COMMUNISTS BEHEAD PRIEST AND KIDNAP THREE FRENCH NUNS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A Shanghai dispatch to The New York Times said that an army of more than 30,000 Communists had swooped down on Kiangsu, Kiangsi Province, beheaded Father Paul Cheng, a Chinese priest, and kidnapped three French sisters and one French priest, each of whom is now held for $20,000 ransom.

The Communists threatened to kill all four if the ransom is not paid in a few days. The execution of Father Cheng occurred on the steps of the Kiangsu Cathedral, the captured nuns being forced to look on.

TEXTILE INDUSTRIES

Although the increased tariff schedules arranged for at the recent emergency session of Parliament have been in operation for less than two months their beneficial effects to the industrial life of the country are already being felt. This is particularly the case in connection with the textile industries. The Canadian manufacturer is now deriving far larger benefits than ever before in lines in the textile trade which previously have been imported from the United States. A real stimulus has been given to this trade and there are many clothing establishments in the East working overtime to keep up with orders.

Under the old tariff there was a duty of 27 1/2 per cent under the British preference and 35 per cent under the intermediate and general scales on clothing and wearing apparel made from woven fabrics (not silk). This has been increased to 30 per cent under the British preference and 40 per cent under the intermediate and general tariffs. There is also a tax of 25 cents a pound under the British preference, 22 1/2 per cent a pound under the intermediate and 35 cents a pound under the general tariff. In varying scales the duties have also been raised on robes, yarns and wools of cotton, on woven fabrics, on cotton wearing apparel, on blankets, on woven fabrics of wool or hair and on artificial silk clothing. In the latter case a general tariff has been raised from 37 1/2 to 50 per cent ad valorem.

For the last two years Canada has been importing upwards of $28,000,000 worth of raw cotton from the United States annually. In addition this country imported cotton yarns and wools to the value of $1,975,697 from the United States, woven cotton fabrics valued at $4,455,744 and dyed and printed cottons valued at $5,286,788, as well as cotton socks, cotton clothing and general cotton goods, the latter three worth in the aggregate $4,500,000. In all these lines Canada has made substantial increases in the tariff, which means that trade formerly enjoyed by the United States is now being diverted to Canadian mills. The tariff in the particulars noted has been specially framed to foster the industry within the country. Canada must continue to import her raw cotton from the United States, but hereafter more and more of the manufactured products will be made at home, according to a review of the situation made by the associate editor of The Montreal Star.

It is estimated that the transfer of every order to the value of $1,728 from the United States to Canada means the employment of one more worker in the Canadian industry and one less on the American side. The president of one of the largest textile manufacturers in the Dominion believes the increased tariffs will mean the employment of many thousands of people now idle. The beginning of this resuscitation in our economic life is becoming more apparent all the time and soon its effect will be felt throughout the country.

THE FREE TRADE FALLACY

Not even in the days of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was a greater interest aroused in the merits of free trade and protection than is at present evidenced by fiscal discussions in the British press. Of all questions asked in relation to this controversy the most pertinent is, who is benefiting by the present fiscal dispensation in Great Britain? Most certainly it is not the cause of unemployment which continues to increase until it has now reached unparalleled proportions. Primarily the purpose of free trade is to open up British ports so that supplies of all character may be brought in free; so, in fact, that the people of Great Britain may buy in the cheapest markets irrespective of the effect on their own industrial welfare. In the face of this competition the British growers and manufacturers are expected to compete, and at the same time respond to the laws of supply and demand. Thus if the foreigner can grow and produce cheaper than the agriculturist or manufacturer in Great Britain he reaps the benefit.

Above and beyond the principle of buying in the cheapest markets there is the question that free trade tends to limit its benefits to a series of intermediaries who stand between the producer and the housewife. S.L.B., writing in The New Statesman says: "We should be prepared to accept and applaud free trade if it will only do what it pretends to do, and make for a cheaply spread table of sound bread, meat, dairy produce, fruit and vegetables... but at present free trade is doing nothing of the kind." This is the testimony of a publication which supports those who remain the staunchest advocates of free trade. Even the die-hard of the Cobdenite fetish are becoming sceptical about the results of a worn-out theory.

WHEAT QUOTA SCHEME

The Imperial Conference is drawing to its conclusion without any real decision having been reached for the promotion of Imperial co-operation for greater economic consolidation. Mr. Bennett's proposal of Imperial Preferences has been refused by the British Government. In its place two suggestions have been made, both of which have been under consideration by a committee of the Conference for some weeks past. One is import boards and the other, an inter-related one, is a wheat quota system. The latter would be applicable to wheat exports from the rest of the Empire to the United Kingdom. No action relating to these proposals is to be taken at present.

During the past five years the average of wheat exported to the United Kingdom by the rest of the Empire has been about 47.4 of its requirements. A wheat quota system would probably mean a fixed amount of at least 50 per cent of the United Kingdom's requirements. The success of any such system must necessarily depend on the price. If that wheat is not purchased at the world price then there would be fictitious values. In such a case there might be a price fixed in excess of the world price and this would involve difficulties of an economic character that might adversely affect trade exchanges in a variety of ways. The Imperial Conference Committee has been examining this angle of the subject. It has also been considering the fixing of separate quotas for soft and hard wheat and the position of the imports of flour to the United Kingdom under a wheat quota system.

The wheat quota system, or import boards of any character, would constitute a very poor substitute for the Imperial Preference proposals of Mr. Bennett. The latter has true Imperial significance which would prove beneficial to inter-Imperial trade in all its bearings. The former is restricted to wheat products, and on such circumscribed lines that it would be nothing but an experiment which might aggravate the wheat situation throughout the world. Even under a wheat quota system is by no means certain that the Empire product, unless it met the world prices, could be disposed of in the markets of the United Kingdom. The British Government, through import boards, might buy any commodity and set the price for its purchase and sale. It could not compel the people of the United Kingdom to buy at the price it might fix officially. The sources of supply of the rest of the world would still be open to the British people and they would continue to buy in those markets where the best results could be secured for the least outlay. Under Imperial Preferences an entirely different set of circumstances would be created and Empire trade be proportionately fostered.

EMPIRE BROADCASTING

One of the matters considered by the Communications Committee of the Imperial Conference was the establishment in the United Kingdom of a radio station capable of broadcasting throughout the Empire. Over this the British Broadcasting Corporation would broadcast programmes and a series of news bulletins daily. Another proposal was that there should be a complete broadcasting system covering the entire Empire, the stations of which would exchange items in their programmes, and programmes would be sent all round from each individual broadcasting station. A statement issued on the subject says:

"To make the system effective four separate programmes would be needed, an afternoon Colonial programme, an African programme coinciding in time with the whole evening programme, and not necessarily containing much special matter, an Australasian morning programme, and a Canadian small hours' programme, which would require special staff arrangements by the B.B.C. The carrying out of such a scheme and the establishment of the special stations would, it is thought, involve an expenditure of not less than $40,000 for five years."

The ability to accumulate millions in wealth through inventive genius does not necessarily bestow the gift of artistic criticism on the fortunate man. Mr. Thomas Edison says: "To my mind the old masters are not art; their value is in their scarcity." Comment on this would be a work of supererogation.

HER FATHER'S HOUSE

She went to the House of God in her poor, plain dress—
She who had gone so humbly, so wistful-eyed;
Mid the well-dressed throng in the busy traffic's press,
Hesitant, half abashed by the pomp and pride,
Appraising glances and cold, disparaging eye,
Found her too humble for notice, hurrying by.
Hesitant still, like a timid child she went,
Awe-struck by the stately service, and humble of heart,
And lo, as in deep contrition and need she bent,
Came the knowledge that she in the splendour of
She rose with her mean garb vanished—in purple dress—
A guest in a royal palace—a welcome guest.

THE POLTROON

Man is timid; when good chance
Calls he would, but dauntless, advance!
Hesitating lover, he Trembles at felicity,
Stammering lips and shaking knees
Prove him weak and ill at ease.
Joy, who scans a swain so shy,
Shrugs her wings and passes by.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

I never knew any man in my life who could not bear another's misfortune perfectly like a Christian—Pope.

"Only so many more shopping days before Christmas!" Such is the striking legend that is beginning to appear in the advertisements in the newspapers. The announcement is of no special significance to us; but it reminds us of something which should be of interest to most of us. Almost everybody, except the few who have lived long enough to know better, begins the new year by adopting a number of good resolutions. The good resolutions are often broken as soon as they are made, but that does not matter so long as the makers of the resolutions experience a fleeting moment of satisfaction in having done a virtuous deed.

If the people of this great world of which we are so insignificant a part were to take advantage of the coming season of goodwill and adopt a resolution that henceforth every person in it and every nation which is a part of it will attend strictly to their own business, the coming year probably would be a year of Jubilee. If the pious resolution were not broken as soon as adopted. The people on our Street get along amicably together, because without passing resolutions or adopting any formal measures, they attend strictly to their own business.

But the people on our Street are merely human, and while they make a special point of attending strictly to their own business, they take a natural human interest in the affairs of their neighbors. We would not say about the people of our Street what some cynical philosopher said about the people of the world at large, that they bear with becoming equally the misfortune of their neighbors. And yet it is but natural that when something beyond the ordinary daily routine occurs, such as a visit from the stork or a visitation by an industrious workman whose implement is a scythe, the gossips should put their heads together and exchange views upon such matters.

As it is in local affairs, so it is in national affairs. Canada, as we all know, is now a nation. Some of us would not have known that if we had not been told, and we are not sure that our ignorance would not have been quite as profitable as our knowledge. Canada's nearest neighbor is the United States. Canadians naturally display a considerable degree of interest in the national affairs of Americans. We have never succeeded in establishing reciprocal trade relations with our neighbors, but that has not affected the strength of our friendly social and national relations. In fact, our neighborly relations are so intimate that when business in the United States is depressed and languid, business in Canada experiences a sympathetic depression.

The general situation in the United States at the present time is particularly interesting to Canadians. Although Uncle Sam is so big, so strong and so rich, it is a curious fact that in some respects he is almost as helpless as a puling infant. Quite frequently, on the impulse of a moment, he passes a law which he finds out by the results of experience cannot be enforced, and then finds out as a result of more experience cannot be repealed. Our esteemed neighbor and uncle is a most ingenious machinist and most of his machinery is up-to-date and runs smoothly and sweetly; but his political machine is like an aged and decrepit steam engine. It will run only one way, and cannot be reversed.

The United States has what is called constitutional government, which is not quite the same thing as popular government. When a measure is written into the constitution, what with slow and formal procedure and political obstruction, that measure is as difficult to amend or erase as the figures tattooed upon the person of some old shell-back mariner. The United States constitution makes certain provisions for elections and changes of government. There has just been what is practically a general election in the United States, and the people undoubtedly voted for a change of Government. But the Government cannot be changed until another election (which will not be so nearly general as the election lately held), and if there should be a demand for a change of Government, the change cannot be effective until six months later.

The discredited Volstead Act is an article of the United States constitution. Even if ninety per cent of the voters were proved to be against that act, it could not be expunged from the constitution without a slow and costly procedure and the creation of passions deep and bitter. Prohibition in the United States, like Prohibition in Canada, was adopted or accepted in a spasmodic of emotion. When the results of Prohibition in Canada proved less satisfactory than had been expected, the people of Canada were given an opportunity to reverse their first judgment, and the law was repealed. The people of all the most populous states in the Republic have passed a vote of want of confidence in the Volstead Act, and undoubtedly those states will ignore the Federal authority and refuse to assist in the enforcement of the law. Canadians, looking across the border with eyes expressive of deepest sympathy, are thankful that their political feet have been planted in the path of responsible government rather than in the devious ways of constitutional government.

THE WAY OF PEACE

Just to live life gladly
Like the little things
Creeping through the grasses,
Soaring on bright wings!
Just to go, forgetting Weight of days gone by,
Letting no tomorrow
Shade this careless sky!

This is wisdom, truly,
This the way of peace,
Where from bonds and burdens
Men may gain release,
Finding golden sunlight
Richer than Earth's gold,
Spilling rare treasures
Than Earth's coffers hold.

Just to live life gladly,
With no questioning,
Lightly as the linnet
Live an hour of Spring!

TOMATO GROWERS HOLD ANNUAL DINNER; MEET AND ELECT OFFICERS

The third annual dinner and meeting of the Capital City Co-operative Hothouse Tomato Growers' Association was held on Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce.

After dinner the president opened the meeting with a few remarks, expressing satisfaction with the returns of the past year, and hoping for an even better season in the coming year.

The matter of protection for produce growers was then discussed, and the present removal of the dump duty was causing severe losses to those producing at this time, and it was decided to get in touch with all other organizations of this nature so that combined representation to Ottawa may be made.

The retiring officers were all re-elected.

Mr. Oppenheimer, of Messrs. Oppenheimer Bros., Fraser Wood, Ltd., brokers, and Mr. MacIntyre, their Victoria representative, each gave an interesting address on marketing conditions during the past year.

During their remarks, it transpired that approximately 19,000 crates of tomatoes were shipped up to the end of August, and they expect about 10,000 crates of second crop up to the end of December, 1930, showing an increase over last year, which was sold at a slightly increased average price.

"Yes sir, I believe that big war are often caused by the small matters," ruminated old man Jones. "Things that a fellow thinks don't amount to a darn will often pile up a mountain of trouble for him. Why, just the other night, my wife was working over a crossword puzzle and she looked up and asked, 'What is a female sheep?' and 'And I replied, 'ewe,' and there was another big war on."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of November 14, 1880.)

The steamship Dakota fell her way through the ice yesterday and reached Port Townsend in the afternoon.

The barometer last night stood at 30.5, unusually high for this time of the year.

It is asserted on excellent authority that the Dominion Government has made a demand on this Government for a transfer of all the public lands in the province for railway purposes, and that, should this Government fail to accede, the land subsidy will be withdrawn. The local Government is reported to have promised compliance, but we can't believe that it has done that, unless something like the guarantee we laid down last March have been given. These guarantees comprehended the carrying out of the Canadian terms.

It is reported that the local House will be called together for discussion of business early in January. It is added that the James Bay Government endorses and is thoroughly committed to a vigorous railway policy.

HONESTY PAYS, SAYS RAIL HEAD

E. W. Beatty, K.C., Gives Views on Success of McMaster University

RECEIVES LAW DEGREE

HAMILTON, Nov. 14.—"Even in modern business it pays to be honest, frank and loyal," said E. W. Beatty, K.C., addressing the student body of McMaster University tonight. Mrs. Beatty, reviewing the opportunities open to graduates, stressed that while ability was important, it was not more important than character and personality.

Mr. Beatty, chancellor of McGill University and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, was honored by the university with an honorary degree in law.

He directed his remarks to those students who would go out into commerce or the professions, declaring he was not qualified to advise divinity students. He made a mistake when he did not enter the clergy, he said, but he did the next best thing—became a railroad man. "The language is much the same," he said.

The young Canadian going out into the world would do well to observe, soon discover the fundamentals counted most heavily and the real things in life were the most important, said Mr. Beatty. He appreciated early in his career that the first and greatest asset any young man can possess is character, Mr. Beatty went on.

BRAINS AND SUCCESS

"We can assume, of course, there is nothing that takes the place of reliability in a man, but he would be unwise to assume that brains mean success," Mr. Beatty said. "We would not be far wrong if we conceded that a young man who possessed fair ability, plus personality, was fortunately endowed from the standpoint of his own progress in this world."

He concluded with the declaration: "There is nothing spectacular in the average man's life, but if he is well in body, sound in mind and granted the inestimable privilege of congenial work, he can make his own individual, but not unsubstantial contribution, to the prosperity and sanity of this country."

As a demonstration of the faith of local concerns in the steady growth of the city of Victoria, Western Apartments Limited today started construction of two modern four-suite apartment houses in this city. The two will cost approximately $30,000 and the work will be done on the day labor basis, thus giving employment to a number of skilled mechanics at a time when employment is most needed.

One of the apartments will be at 217 Cook Street and the other at 431 Linden Avenue. Permits for their construction were issued yesterday morning by City Building Inspector James Barf. The buildings will contain four suites of four rooms each.

Anglican Arctic Mission Extends Aid to Eskimos

The Ven. A. L. Civilization, he points out, has pushed back the boundary of the Arctic a thousand miles from that hitherto accepted as the limit. With the coming of white men in ever-increasing numbers, he asks, what will happen

BEER POLICY TO BE CONSIDERED BY GOVERNMENT

Liquor Control Board Confers With Executive Council on Question

EARLY SETTLEMENT OF ISSUE EXPECTED

British Columbia's policy in relation to the purchase and distribution of beer will be settled in the course of the next few days, it was stated yesterday by Premier Tomin. After members of the Liquor Control Board had conferred with the Executive Council at a two-hour meeting. No action was taken, he said, as a result of the meeting, but the whole question is under advisement, and an early determination of the matter is to be made.

The Liquor Control Board, which includes H. B. Thomson, chairman, W. F. Kennedy and W. J. Baird, was closeted with the Executive Council during a thorough discussion of the many-sided question of beer purchasing and sales. Hon. W. C. Shelly, president of the Council, and a full meeting of the Cabinet attended the conference, with the exception of Hon. William Atkinson, who is in the East on business for the province, and Hon. R. L. Maitland, who was unable to be present yesterday.

While no official intimation has been made as to what the policy of the Government will be, it is anticipated that drastic changes will be made in the present system of beer purchasing, which followed an arrangement made by a former ministry, and against which some dissatisfaction has been expressed both as to the quality of the beer and price arrangement, which eliminated some of the elements of normal competition.

Also awaiting decision at this time are a number of petitions for the holding of plebiscites on the sale of beer by the glass, in Victoria and at several smaller communities in the province. No decision will be made on these applications until the whole question of beer distribution has first been determined, it is believed certain.

An Estate on the "instalment plan"

NO longer do young people wait until they can pay completely for their comforts, before entering into enjoyment of them. They have learned to plan their finances ahead . . . to buy
"out of income".

Wisely and conservatively used, instalment-buying is a benefit. But, in excess, it may easily encourage obligations which prove difficult to meet and which,
in event of a sudden reduction or cessation of income, may mean calamity.

There is, however, one form of instalment-buying which is always wise and safe . . . the purchase of Life Insurance.

Life Insurance becomes an asset which never depreciates. It can be made to take care of your needs. It will protect your home and loved ones after you are gone. It covers the obligations which your other instalment purchases may incur. And the "instalments" are cancelled at your death.

In the planning of every family budget,
Life Insurance deserves the place of "honor". It is the only certain way of buying an estate "on the instalment plan". Any Life Insurance representative will gladly explain its advantages.

"BRASS HAT IN NO MAN'S LAND"

Dr. Davies to Review Gen. Crozier's New Book at Evening Service

NEW ORCHESTRA BEGINS

"A Brass Hat in No Man's Land" will be the subject of the evening service at the Victoria City Temple on Sunday evening when Dr. Clem Davies, the minister, will review a book by General Frank Crozier, one of the leading generals of the British troops for four years on the Western front.

Surpassing in some ways "All Quiet on the Western Front" with cultured language and the straight-from-the-shoulder diction of an educated Englishman, who himself admits that he lived war before 1914, the book is one of the most remarkable and effective castigations of war that has been published in years. In order that the young generation, who have no conception of much of the last war's horrors, and to indicate to them what the next war means unless peace is established, Dr. Davies will review this volume at the City Temple on Sunday night.

As a post-armistice message Dr. Davies will have for his subject at the morning service, "The Call for Sacrifice." Splendid music has been provided for both services. At night Alfred Prescott's orchestra will make its first appearance and render a programme of chamber music from 7 until 7:30 o'clock. The evening anthem by the chorus-choir will be "Gather Us In" (Thompson). Mrs. S. M. Morton will be the guest soloist, singing Eslinger's "I Shall Not Let This Way Again." A duet will

A. Reynolds, of First Baptist Church, who is an old friend. This friendship was formed eighteen years ago, when the two ministers had neighboring parishes in South Vancouver. ## DR. WILSON GOES TO METROPOLITAN

Dr. Scott's Evening Theme, "The Middle of the Road"—Concert Dated for Friday

On Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. Wilson, of First United Church, will occupy the pulpit of Metropolitan United Church. Such exchanges are true expressions of the unity existing between the churches, and the people of this congregation look forward to the customary inspirational sermon that Dr. Wilson so ably delivers on such visits. At the morning service Miss Marian L. Cody will sing Allister's "Like as the Hart Desires," the choir anthem being "O Love the Lord" (Sullivan). Dr. Scott has chosen for his evening theme "The Middle of the Road." Music by the choir will be "The Sun Shall Be No More" (Woodward). A quartet number by Miss Dorothy Parsons, Mrs. Kinsley, George Derrick and Ivan Green will be "My God, Accept My Heart" (Brackets).

On Monday night the young people will resume their meetings, and a large attendance is anticipated in view of the contest for the group securing the most points on attendance by the time the annual meeting comes round next month. On Friday evening, November 21, the Sunday school is presenting another of its delightful entertainments. These concerts are produced by every department of the church, and seek the co-operation of the congregation and public in making them successful. A collection for general Sunday school expenses will be received.

China Has More Missionaries in Past Three Years

The new issue of the directory of Protestant missions in China contains the names of 6,346 in the employ of Protestant missionary societies on April 1, 1930, as compared with approximately 8,250 on January 1, 1927. Of these 5,496 are reported as in China and 850 absent on furlough, making a net increase of 811 in China as compared with the corresponding date in 1929 and an increase of 1,183 over 1927. Figures are given showing that current arrivals are very much below those of the preceding decade.

TONY CANZONERI WINS LIGHTWEIGHT CROWN

Dockers Will Meet Saanich Eleven in Important Fixture

Undeclared Leaders of First Division Soccer to Face Thistles Today—Wests to Battle Jokers—Standing of Teams Revised

HOW THEY STAND

Equimault	W. L. D. P. A. Pt.
Saanich Thistles	2 1 1 8 5 5
Jokers	2 1 1 8 8 5
Victoria City	2 1 1 8 12 3
Victoria West	2 1 1 7 9 1

The above league standing has been revised by the officials of the Victoria Senior Football League, owing to the withdrawal of the Five C's from further competition. Although all victories against the chieftains have been thrown into disarray, it does not affect the standing of the various clubs. Equimault still remains at the top of the ladder, with Saanich Thistles and Jokers deadlocked for second position, one point behind the dockers. City are in third place with the greenhairs occupying the cellar position.

Equimault's unbeaten eleven will have their hands full this afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, at 2:45 o'clock, when they clash with "Shorty" Earle and his hard-working suburbanites in the feature attraction. "Doc" Poyntis and his Victoria West squad will endeavor to climb from the bottom position at the expense of the Jokers, at Beacon Hill Park, at the same hour.

STRONG CAGE SQUADS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Keating and Sons of Canada to Clash in Feature Hoop Game

WEST ROAD WILL BATTLE NEWSIES

Of the trio of cage games carded this evening in the City League at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, basketball fans will focus their eyes on the Sons of Canada-Keating battle in the Senior "B" division, the first feature on the card, starting at 7:30 o'clock. J.B.A.A. Reds and Navy will clash in the second attraction, while West Road and the Colonist will entertain the fans in the last game of the evening.

Keating, who have been traveling in a blaze of glory since the curtain went up, have a smooth-working quintette, noted for their great defensive and offensive tactics. They team together well, snap their passes with great rapidity and accuracy, and are deadly when within reach of the hoop. Led by the elusive Ralph Mitchell on the offensive, the suburbanites will be out to maintain their winning streak.

The Sons are a hard-working crew and seem to show up better when stacked up against strong opposition. With such stars as John and Jack Taylor, Curly Blair and Clyde Nicol, the Maple Leaf representatives will be out, confident of lowering the colors of Keating.

J.B.A.A. will take the floor favorable over the sailors, while the West Road-Colonist battle should provide plenty of thrills for the spectators. The newsies have been strengthened, and hope to chalk up their first victory of the season. Alan Le Marquand will referee all three games.

BILLIARDS

Pro Patria's squad of billiard experts continued to set the pace in the race for the "A" section title of the Intermediate Billiard League by defeating the Veterans of France last night on the latter's home table, 393-497. In a "C" section game, Army and Navy "C" team won from Army and Navy "D" by a 400-294 score. The teams follow:

Veterans of France		Pro Patria
A. McKelvie	200	W. Thompson	198
G. Orchard	188	J. Ford	188
G. Patch	111	A. Smith	100
Total	497	Total	486

DAVEY CUP ENTRIES TO CLOSE NOV. 25
Junior league football squads wishing to enter the Davey Cup series are asked to have their entries in the hands of Fred O'Brien, 1740 Carnation Avenue, by November 25.

FOOTBALL LINE-UPS

Line-ups for today's soccer matches follow:
Oaklands — Torrence; Crawford and Blackstock; White, Dunn and Davies; Peterson, Clarke, Hook, Smith and O'Connell.
Equimault Juniors — Barker; March and Hogarth; Lindell, Mitchell and Robertson; Stewart, McLean, D. Hicks, Warder and Evans; Reserves, J. Hicks and Burnett.
Victoria West — Willoughby; Lloyd and Harwood; Thompson, Williams and Stewart; Youson, D'Arcy, Robinson, Milligan and Shanks.

By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Lindsey Hicks, who can't be killed—Hicks was working with five other men in a tunnel of the Southern California Edison Co. when he was imprisoned by a cave-in. His five companions were killed instantly, but Hicks lived for 10 days under the mass of rock and debris before the rescuers were able to extricate him. During that time he was fed milk, whisky punches and eggnog through a 35-foot pipe and he weighed more after the ordeal than before.

The Largest Lily—The Yucca shown in my drawing is known as the Joshua Tree, or Yucca brevifolia, and is the tallest on record. The Joshua Tree is the most conspicuous of the Yucca species of the Lilaceae family and is found only in southwestern United States, Mexico and parts of Central America. My drawing was made from an original photo taken by J. O. Loop, of Long Beach, California. Reference: Encyclopedia Britannica.

Meralomas to Meet Regina Roughriders in 2nd Game Today

Prairie Champions Favored to Cop Fifth Straight Western Canadian Rugby Title at Vancouver From British Columbians

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—Unless a startling upset occurs, Regina Roughriders, prairie football champions, will be crowned Monarchs of Western Canada for the fifth successive year around four o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Riders meet Vancouver Meralomas, Coast titleholders, at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow, in the second game of the Western title series, and if the result of the first game, Thursday night, can be taken as a criterion, Al Ritchie's Saskatchewan Huskies will have little trouble in making it two straight. Regina won the opening game by a 17 to 0 count, and on actual play should have won by a larger margin.

Meralomas were a disappointed team following last night's game, but had no excuses to offer. And while not claiming that they will win tomorrow, the Vancouver players are confident that they will put up a much better battle and thus redeem themselves in the eyes of the Canadian football world. Meanwhile, Regina players and supporters can see nothing but a quick conclusion to the series, and every indication points to the fulfillment of their hopes.

MAY SHIFT LINE-UP
Both teams evidently came out of the opening fray in good condition, because none other than minor injuries were reported today.

Meralomas may shift their team for tomorrow's game, but their definite line-up has not yet been selected. Al Ritchie will most likely nominate the same team as started last night for the visitors.

The local fans were given a treat Thursday night in the display put on by the well-coached Saskatchewan team. A deadly charging line, backed up by a clever and tricky backfield, proved to be a match for Meralomas, who showed nothing but a lot of willingness and fighting spirit.

Cage Fixtures Are Carded at J.B.A.A. Club

Two exhibition basketball games will be staged at the J.B.A.A. headquarters at the Gorge this evening. The first of which will get under way at 7:30 o'clock and the second at 9 o'clock. Blue Ribbon women will clash with the J.B.A.A. Whites in the opener, and the Sons of Canada will hook up with the J.B.A.A. Blues in the second fixture.

Following the cage exhibitions, the first of a series of weekly dances will be held at the club under the direction of the J.B.A.A. dance committee.

Roller Hockey Entries Will Close Tuesday

Entries for the newly-formed Victoria Roller Hockey League will close Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Gray Line rink. Already nine squads have placed their entry forms in the hands of Secretary Ian Wallace. Teams wishing to enter must file their entries before the zero hour as the league officials want to draw up the season's schedule as soon as possible.

RUGBY LINE-UPS

Line-ups for today's intermediate Rugby fixtures follow:
J.B.A.A.—Dewell, A. Osman, Tobin, Parrott, Brown, Murray, Rush, Stephen, George, D'Arcy, J. Osman, Dunn, Gray, Peard and Lemm.
Victoria College—McInnes, Mabee, Miller, Boorman, Copeland, Basil, Moyes, Robinson, Colgate, Crothall, Walton, Patterson, Sprinkling, Wilson and Stevens.
Canadian Scottish—Byrne, May, Christie, Buxton, Darbyshire, Lee, Hestlen, Blythe, Quinn, Parker, Forbes, Hills, Murray, Brookbank, Hall and Lund.

Stribling Says He Will Fight Max Next June

MONROE, La., Nov. 14.—W. L. ("Young") Stribling, here for a boxing exhibition, said last night he would fight Max Schmeling for the heavyweight title next June in Chicago or New York. Stribling said terms already had been agreed upon and the contract would be signed next January.

TIGERS AND ARGOS WILL MEET TODAY

Game at Toronto Will Decide Interprovincial Union Championship

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY TO CLASH WITH MCGILL

Win for Former Will Give Intercollegiate Title Again

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—Rivals in sport for years, the cities of Hamilton and Toronto are going themselves one better in connection with the Tiger-Argo football game here tomorrow, which will decide the Interprovincial Union championship for another season. Charges and counter-charges are being hurled back and forth between the respective club members and the annual clash of these two teams on the Varsity Stadium promises to excel in rivalry and bitter competition any other clash that has gone before.

Looking ahead to possible participation in the Canadian Rugby Union playoffs, officials of the Jungle Kings decided it would be a wise policy to promote two players from the Tiger Cubs, Ontario Rugby Football Union. Western group champions, to the reserve list of the senior team. The players elected were Butler Reed and Cecil McBride. There is a catch in this seemingly innocent move, however, as Tigers planned to qualify the pair by injecting them into the game against Argos. There is a clause in the Big Four rule book which states "all applications for playing certificates must be in the hands of the secretary of the union on Monday preceding the match in which the applicant is likely to take part."

LEADLEY TO BE ON DECK

While the Tigers may not be able to use the Cub players, they intend using Frank "Pop" Leadley, splendid kicking halfback, for relief on the backfield, and thus qualify him for the playoffs, providing Tigers win.

Queen's University, who appear to have the Intercollegiate Union title firmly within their grasp, held a strenuous workout yesterday in concluding their training for the game with McGill University.

DICK DANIELS GETS CALL OVER BELANGER

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 14.—Fighting in closing rounds, Dick Daniels, of Minneapolis, defeated Charley Belanger, of Winnipeg, light-heavyweight champion of Canada, in a ten-round battle here today. Daniels weighed 183 1/2 and Belanger 180 1/4.

JUVENILE FOOTBALL

Games scheduled today in the Juvenile Football League follow: Sons of England vs. Beavers, at Victoria West Park at 1:30 o'clock. Saanich Thistles vs. Oak Bay United, at Victoria West Park at 3 o'clock.

A boy went into a chemist's shop to use the telephone, and the chemist overheard him call Dr. Brown and ask if he wanted a boy. "Are you quite satisfied with your present boy?" the lad inquired, and after getting a reply, he answered, "Oh, then I don't think I need trouble you any further, thank you."

GOALIE STUART SOLD TO LONDON

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—Manager Jack Adams, of the Detroit Falcons, National League hockey team, today announced the sale of Herbert Stuart, goalie, to the London team of the International League. Stuart, goal tender for the Detroit Olympics, International League team last year, refused to sign a contract this year calling for a $1,000 increase to play with the Falcons. Manager Adams said the London team had accepted Stuart in trade for Johnny Scerif, wing man, acquired by the Falcons from London early this season.

Al Singer Kayoed After One Minute And Six Seconds

One of Shortest Title Bouts on Record

For almost a minute the men sparred cautiously, clinching and breaking a couple of times, and then Cannonieri socked that left hook to the mark and the entertainment for the evening was over. The Garden was well filled and there were a number of distinguished persons among the customers. Bobby Jones, golf champion of all weights, sat at the ringside.

The spectators got almost too quick action in the title bout, but the preliminaries tonight were worth the money.

ENGLISH BOY WINS

Solly Schwartz, of England, and Jimmy McNamara, of Greenwich Village, N.Y., went ten rounds full of action and earnest effort. The red-headed Solly won on points. In the first preliminary of five rounds, a Baltimore lightweight by the name of Sid Lampe, outpointed Frankie Carlton, of Jersey City.

There were many Italians in the house, who went home happy from Cannonieri's victory.

There are now three Italian boxing champions of the world: Tony Cannonieri, Bat Battalino and Midget Wolgast. Each is a little fellow, but all are good. One thing which may be said for Cannonieri, is that every time he has appeared in a ring he has been willing to give the customers a fight for their money. If he continues to work along these lines he should be a popular champion.

SINGER IN FOG

Singer finally came to sufficiently to be assisted from the ring, but I doubt whether he really realized what had happened to him until he reached the dressing-room.

It was one of the most efficient knockouts I have ever seen. Singer won his championship from Sammy Mandell on July 17 in one minute and forty-six seconds. The shortest lightweight title fight on record is the one in which Joe Gans regained his crown by knocking out Frank Erne at Fort Erie in fifty-four seconds. Cannonieri is the third Italian to hold the lightweight title.

When the men entered the ring tonight it was announced that Cannonieri weighed 134 pounds and Cannonieri 132. The referee was Johnny McAvoy, and the judges were Harold Barnes and George Patrick. These men had an easy evening, which the applicant is likely to take part in.

RETURNS TO MAINLAND FOR TODAY'S BATTLE

Desmond Grubb, Star Half-back of the Roughriders, Spends Short Time Here

Desmond Grubb, one of the best English Rugby players ever developed in this city and now one of the shining lights of the Regina Roughriders, paid a brief visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Grubb, Camosun Street, yesterday morning, and left last night for Vancouver to take part in the second game of the Western Canadian Rugby championship.

Grubb's work with the Regina Roughriders has been followed closely by his local friends. Throughout the whole schedule the former Victorian has been a tower of strength to his team. He is one of the Roughriders' leading scorers. In the championship game against Calgary Tigers last Monday Grubb was responsible for eight of his team's nine points when they won the Prairie championship by a score of 9 to 6.

On Thursday night, in the first game against Montreal, Grubb scored one touchdown for the Roughriders and figured in plays which netted several of the other points, which gave them a 17-0 victory over the British Columbia champions.

MADE EASTERN TRIP

The Canadian code was not on the local sport schedule when Grubb left town as a member of the staff of the Imperial Bank after staying a couple of years at Revelstoke, where he took up the game with great success. Last year he went East with the Roughriders when they were defeated by Hamilton Tigers for the Canadian championship.

Grubb was born and raised in Victoria and attended Boys' Central and the Victoria High School. At the latter institution he first took up Rugby and starred in the back division. After graduating, Grubb played with several of the senior teams and, when early in his teens won a place on the Victoria "Reds," which he always held until he left the city.

Grubb stated yesterday that the Roughriders would challenge the Eastern champions again if they succeed in defeating Meralomas, and hopes to be one of the team on the trip East. He states that the Regina gridders are stronger than last year, and believes they would give the Easterners a hard run for the Canadian championship.

DERBY CUP IS WON BY NOTICE BOARD

DERBY, England, Nov. 14.—Notice Board, a four-year-old colt by Therspene out of Stern, won the Derby Cup today by a length from Boldero, with Promptitude third, another three-quarters of a length back.

The betting was 25 to 1 against Notice Board, 100 to 1 against Boldero, and 100 to 1 against Promptitude.

WILL ENTERTAIN FISHERY CHIEF

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Fisheries, on Way to Coast

Q.M.A. ARRANGE DINNER

Premier Tolmie, Hon. S. L. Howe, and other members of the Government have been invited to attend a banquet to be given by the fishery section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Fisheries, at the Hotel Georgia, Vancouver, on November 17.

Hugh Dalton, secretary of the Vancouver branch of the association, accompanied by Dick Gosse, was in the city yesterday to extend the invitation to the Government. Premier Tolmie and Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, have been asked to address the meeting. Action by members of the Federal Cabinet in making a first hand study of conditions in the West is receiving much favorable comment. Within the last few weeks three ministers of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett's Cabinet have been on the Coast, in the course of comprehensive inspections of the branches of their departments throughout Canada.

The woman often entertains her friends by recounting her conversations with Mandy, her colored cook. The other day Mandy was complaining of the disobedience of her youngest offspring. The woman gave her opinion on the subject, but Mandy was unconvinced. After a moment of heavy thought, she asked: "Miss May, is you ever been the mammy of a no-count colored child?" The woman replied: "No, of course not."

Mandy sniffed. "Then how come you tell me what to do with him?" The woman capitulated then and there.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Impy Spills a Load of Nuts

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Danger lurks where least suspected, and oft appears when least expected.

—Old Mother Nature.

It never does to be so intent on one thing that everything else is forgotten. It is dangerous. It has cost the lives of many of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. It caused Impy, the black chipmunk, to lose two pockets full of sweet little beech nuts. He was lucky, very lucky, that he did not lose his life as well. He might have. Yes, indeed, he might have.

You see, this was Impy's first harvest. He was working very hard indeed to fill the storerooms in his snug home. There were many other nut harvesters and so Impy worked fast, wholly intent on getting his share. As a matter of fact, he had his share and more, too.

Now, there were other people interested in that harvest—people who themselves did not eat beech nuts. They were not interested in the beech nuts, but they were interested in some of the little people who were gathering the beech nuts. One of these was Sharpshin, the Hawk. He was especially interested in Striped Chipmunk and Impy and little Mrs. Impy. Unseen by them, he watched until he knew just which way they went and how they went, as they hurried to and fro, now with their pockets filled and again with their pockets empty. Then he bided his time. It came soon. Impy, with both cheeks stuffed with beech nuts, came dodging about another one in, started for home. He was so intent on getting there that he didn't even look around for possible danger. He forgot that there was such a thing as danger.

"Look out!" shrieked Striped Chipmunk suddenly. "Look out, Impy!"

Impy didn't stop to look. He simply dodged behind a tree and he was none too soon. There was the sharp whistle of wings as Sharpshin swooped and barely missed him. Sharpshin turned quickly and came swooping back. Striped Chipmunk dodged around to the other side of the tree. Once again he was barely in time. Then Impy did a wise thing. He emptied both pockets of the nuts they contained. He realized that he couldn't dodge with his cheeks swelled out as they were with those pockets full. Neither could he run as he might have to run. He did it none too soon, for Sharpshin was joined by Mrs. Sharpshin and Impy needed every bit of his speed and dodging ability.

For a few minutes it was breathless work. Sharpshin would swoop and Impy would dodge around the tree, only to be swooped at by Mrs. Sharpshin. It began to look bad for Impy.

It was just about this time that Buster Bear came along. He came shuffling along lazily, for he is given to being lazy. He was feeling extremely good natured. He had had his fill of sweet beech nuts. There was nothing more he wanted. He stopped close by the tree, around which Impy was dodging. Impy saw his chance. He darted out right under Buster Bear. Buster was back to him at the time and didn't see him. Sharpshin and Mrs. Sharpshin screamed their rage and disappointment. They didn't dare swoop at Impy there. Buster Bear thought that they were shrieking at him, so he growled at them. As for Impy, he watched his chance and presently got safely away. As soon as he dared, he went back to those nuts. They were not there. You see, Chatterer, the Red Squirrel, had watched the whole performance and he had taken those nuts at the very first opportunity.

Striped Chipmunk Dodged Around to the Other Side of the Tree

ZONING IS AGAIN BEFORE REALTORS

Differences of Opinion Exist Among Members of Real Estate Board of City

At the luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board of Victoria, held in Spencer's dining-room yesterday, the zoning problem was again made the main topic of discussion. This was raised on a report presented verbally by D. Leeming, chairman of the zoning committee of the board, who felt that the City Council was not in accord with the report of the committee to the extent desired.

Incidentally, he referred to the attitude of the Vancouver city delegation, which waited upon the Government, and which asked the Victoria board to be represented in the meeting. He alluded to what was regarded as confiscation of property on the part of Vancouver in compelling the carrying of buildings back eight feet on some streets, in order that expropriation might be made possible if the street was required to be widened later. The complaint was that the value was placed at the present time while the expropriation might not be for years.

SETTING BACK RULE

Major Cuthbert Holmes, in referring to this subject, said that, in his opinion, the setting back rule should apply only in residential sections of the city. In Vancouver there had been a tendency to take advantage of the rule to provide for the streets, which might in future times become business sections.

H. D. Patterson took exception to the inclusion of apartment houses among residences. The zoning by-law should be for the protection of owners of residential property. A Carmichael felt that one of the troubles in connection with the classification of buildings was the dividing of blocks in the allotment of the spaces where certain classes of buildings could be erected.

SAFEGUARDS OFFERED

Major Holmes was of the opinion that the council had safeguarded the situation in the rule with respect to the limiting of the space that could be used for building purposes on a lot. He was opposed to stringing out commercial occupants along main thoroughfares.

J. Bridgman was in accord with Mr. Patterson. He took as an unthinkable example the making of the Uplands a location where an apartment house could be erected. He favored supporting the zoning by-law, looking to the improving of it as needed whenever possible.

Mr. Leeming was of the opinion that the representations of the committee of the board were insufficient to meet the situation, inasmuch as it was provided that duplex houses might be erected in any place except that which was specifically designated as being not open to such.

The matter was laid over until the next meeting, which will be addressed by the Mayor.

Bull's Eye Range Opens

Archery and Rifle Shooting Range in Victoria Is Opened

Bull's Eye Shooting Gallery, Designed to Supply a Long-Felt Want of City, Opens in Old Weiler Building, Broughton Street—Many Tests of Marksmen's Skill Installed

Furnished Lounge for Spectators

ARCHERY, a sport little known in Victoria, yet recognized as one of the finest recreations and tests of skill, has received a definite ratification in the city with the inauguration of the "Bull's Eye Shooting Gallery" on Broughton Street in the old Weiler Building, opposite the Vancouver Island Stage Depot.

After an intensive survey of the possibilities of the line, Douglas Jacobs, of this city, has opened a combined archery and shooting range under this name, thereby filling a long-felt need in Victoria. The premises have been divided into two sections, one devoted to rifle shooting and the other to archery.

The rifle range, of twenty yards extent, is equipped with the standard targets prescribed by all associations for that distance. In addition to these, will be many novel innovations to test the marksman's skill. The "duck pond" will feature largely here, being a genuine pond of water in the foreground, with miniature ducks swimming about. These are operated on an endless belt and are constantly moving. A direct hit will cause them to turn over, but those who have shot before will appreciate the difficulty of "nailing" a moving target on a water background.

Above and behind the duckpond will be a mark termed the "Water-Ball" target. This is a ball that dances at the lip of a fountain, only to disappear on being hit. The "Squirrel" will be another hard target, being a "tree" upon which the dummy squirrels are ceaselessly moving from place to place. These features are as much intended to improve the marksman's eye and judgment as to give amusement, and real practice is obtained.

PISTOL RANGE TO BE ADDED

The rifles used, both Winchester and Remington, are of a high standard, ever for those two famous names. Greatest care has been exercised in centering the sighting in order to give absolute accuracy. Ammunition and firearms were intended to improve the marksman's eye and judgment as to give amusement, and real practice is obtained.

The archery butts are of the same length, using the standard twenty-yard targets. The bows and the arrows are made here in the district by R. D. Young, who is known in archery circles. They will be found in different weights and styles, for a bow is essentially an individual weapon depending upon the strength of the archer to give the best results. This has been reckoned upon, and here are bows suitable for children, women, exceptionally strong archers and experienced novices. Bracer guards, or protective gauntlets, will be supplied.

LOUNGE IS PROVIDED

In the decoration of the premises the wall design has been executed by W. G. Young, depicting both distant mountain scenery and streams, in which latter game birds of all kinds are to be seen. Both in appropriate subjects and in finished art this decoration is of exceptional merit. Steam-heated throughout, the building is well ventilated and will be comfortable for the archers. The lighting has been arranged with the aim of giving the proper illumination with no reflected glare.

A furnished lounge will give accommodation to spectators and the comfort of lady patrons is a special feature. The remodeling and the splendid finish to the fixtures has been executed under the supervision of Max Lohrman, whose many years of experience in this work has received ample testimony.

"I can't get along with my wife. All she does is ignore me."

"Ignore you?"

"Yes. And there's anything I hate it's ignorance."

There was a girl in St. Louis

NEXT DOOR TO THE "BULL'S EYE" SHOOTING GALLERY GARDEN COURT GOLF COURSE

Next to Victoria's only shooting gallery is Victoria's foremost indoor golf course. Steam heated throughout. The premises maintain an even heat, no matter what the temperatures is outside.

Yew, the principal wood for bows, had to be conserved, so another order issued made it compulsory for bowyers to manufacture three bows of elm, ash or yew, and to one of yew. Bowyers, those who specialized in the making of bows, were liable for instant conscription in time of need. The wisdom of these measures was proven by the decisive victories of Falckirk, Crecy, Poliers, Agincourt and others, which made clear to the world the supremacy of the English archers.

MOST ROMANTIC WEAPON

But in 1418 the appearance of the "petit canon," obviously some kind of hand firearm, rang the death knell of the most romantic of all weapons for use in war. True, it was slow in being eradicated, the long bow being used in the next century, 1500, the year of the Armada. This was positively its last appearance as an arm of war. The crossbow disappeared from history just century, when the Chinese used them in 1860 at Taku.

Records show how archery has survived through the centuries to the present day as a recreation. In 1076, Charles II and his queen took a keen interest in the sport, presenting a silver badge or shield to the "Marshall of the Fraternity of Archers." In 1781 the Royal Toxophilite Society was founded, still in existence today, as are its contemporaries, Woodsmen of Arden, and in Scotland the Royal Company of Archers.

So it may be seen that the inauguration of an archery butts in Victoria does not herald the introduction of a dead sport of a bygone age, but the spread of a popular recreation to the West.

YOUTHS OF OAK BAY WILL BE EMPLOYED

Council Hears Report From Municipal Clerk on Relief Work in Municipality

Unemployed youths in Oak Bay, between sixteen and twenty years of age, have been given part-time employment, at $2 a day, by the municipality. It was decided at the regular meeting of the council on Thursday evening.

R. P. Blandy, municipal clerk, reported that forty-two persons had registered as being unemployed, and that these included eleven youths below the age of twenty years.

Most of the latter, the report continued, did not appear to be in need of relief, since their parents had an income.

At the same time there were cases of where these youths "kept the pot boiling" in their homes.

Negroes Electrocuted

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 14.—Four negroes were electrocuted at State Penitentiary today for two murders committed in robberies last year. They were James Turnage, and George Washington, convicted of killing W. H. Roberts, Little Rock filling station operator, and Eddie Long and Willie Joe Davis, convicted of fatally wounding John Weed, North Little Rock grocery store proprietor and city alderman.

The executions lasted thirty-two minutes, starting at 7:15 a.m. and ending at 7:45 a.m.

They hadn't been married long and it was their first quarrel; and he was getting very much the worst of it.

"Well, all I can say is," she growled, "that men are idiotic fools to marry."

"Of course they are, dear," she said sweetly, "but what can women do? There's nothing else they can marry."

EXPERIENCE IS POETIC ORIGIN

Prof. T. Larsen Delivers Address to University Extension Members

HAS PERSONAL OUTLET

"A communication of experience by means of language" was the definition of poetry given at Thursday night's University Extension lecture by Professor T. Larsen, M.A., speaking on "The Significance of Poetry."

The speaker, who was introduced by G. A. A. Hebban, pointed out that English poetry fell into definite groups—the Elizabethans, the Augustan poets, the Romantics of the nineteenth century, and "those poets of modern time who meant something quite definite, but, in its way, different."

There were two distinct forces, said the speaker, which made for the development of poetry. The scientific mind contributed to the perfection of facts and ideas, while the artistic complex was concerned with feelings and moods.

The scientist always tried to eliminate the personal factor from his equations. While the artist realized that the work of his hand was unique, because it was personal and had only one outlet of expression.

Information, said the speaker, tended to lose its validity in the course of time, while the experience emphasized in poetry was everlasting, precluding entrance into "that unexplored world which has its being in the personality of another."

The ravages of time, said Professor Larsen, had had less effect upon language than upon any other of the arts.

Poetry, he noted, was accessible to anybody, and could be housed in one small room.

Metre, said Professor Larsen, was not essential to poetry, which fact had been emphasized since the days of Aristotle. At the same time, it might be said that a monopoly of prose was denied to science.

While the natural reaction to emotion was rhythm, a great deal of nonsense had been talked about poetic "diction."

"Words are neither poetic nor unpoetic," said the speaker. "What really makes them poetic is the way they are used, passing through the crucible of the poet's experience and emerging in a form when it must be our duty to share the writer's experience."

SHOULD KNOW HIS LIFE
"Therefore we should know as much as possible about the poet's life. It then would only be possible to stand where he stood, and to see things with his eyes."

"And so we shall find that what matters is not 'matter' but 'manner.' In other words, we should not concentrate upon the experience itself, but upon the way in which it is handled."

"I would like to give you one word of warning before I close. Poetry is complementary to life, but can never be used as a substitute. It is dangerous to get into the habit of living in books, because emotions require an outlet in practical action."

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"
If November 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. The irritating period is during the morning especially so between 10 a.m. and noon.

Portents for this date are favorable, both as regards finances and health. A meeting with an almost forgotten relative or friend will bring about good results, and evening conditions will be inspirational so far as affairs of the heart are concerned.

Children born on this November 15 will, as they mature, be very matter-of-fact, and not in the least imaginative or enthusiastic. They will be good, open, cautious, and conservative, and possess ability, but they will never inspire!

It was further noted that the hearts of the distance runners who had had many years of distance running showed the greatest decrease.

Dr. Richards suggests that these hearts, contracted after severe exercise, might be explained as a form of muscle "cramp," which results in a smaller or contracted heart.

As the heart is so much smaller it will not continue to send blood up to the brain, and so the runner collapses.

As the runner collapses, thus asking the heart to do no more heavy work, the heart muscle is protected from doing itself any permanent harm.

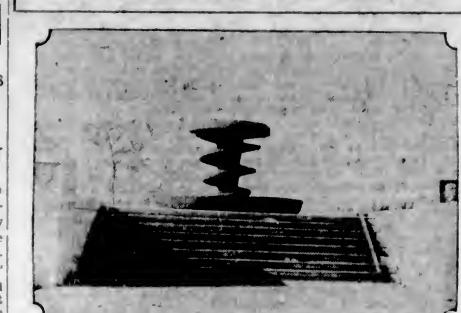

My thought in writing about this is to show how Nature is always protecting us even against our will. It would also tend to show that men in good physical condition can undergo severe exertion without doing any permanent harm to the heart; the collapse being Nature's method of doing this.

Stewart's trial on a charge of having murdered John Dryden, of which McDonald came to a sudden end when McDonald, on whom the Crown's case hinged, refused to answer questions, Stewart was freed, the jury returning a verdict without leaving the box.

Prime Minister Made Honorary President of Society of United Empire Loyalists Here

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, was elected honorary president of the United Empire Loyalist Society of British Columbia at the annual meeting held in the Provincial Archives, Parliament Buildings, Thursday night.

Mr. Bennett is the first honorary president of the society and eligible because he is a direct descendant of United Empire Loyalists. Mr. Bennett is entitled to add the letters "U.E." after his name.

The meeting last night was held principally for the election of the 1937 officers and Col. T. B. Monk was elected as president. Other officers were elected as follows: First vice-president, Major Beaumont Ross; second vice-president, W. E. Lowe, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. C. Ross; executive committee, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Wheatley, C. W. Risteen and Col. E. R. Tooley.

The Victoria society will be constituted the provincial branch of the United Empire Loyalist Association of Canada, affiliation with the parent association having been requested. The next meeting of the society will be held in February. Twenty-one members were present at the meeting last night and Col. Monk was chairman.

SHIPMENT OF CHINESE ANTHRACITE COAL TO REACH MAINLAND SOON

NANAIMO, Nov. 14.—A shipment of Chinese anthracite coal is due to arrive in Vancouver soon, according to a communication received here from A. W. Neill, M.P. for Comox-Alton district.

Mr. Neill states that the coal is mined by men and women in the Orient under conditions and for wages impossible for Island coal to compete with.

Mr. Neill has wired Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, urging that special duties be imposed on the coal upon its arrival in Vancouver, under Section 42 of the Customs Act and Section 6 of the Tariff Act.

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.

NATURE'S METHOD OF PROTECTING THE HEART

You have seen contestants in a hard race, marauding runners, rolling or other strenuous exercise, and as they finished the race they collapsed.

It has always been understood that the heart had increased in size, had become dilated, and it was a dilated heart that caused the collapse.

However, some recent experiments by Dr. T. K. Richards, Boston, would tend to disprove this idea.

He was fortunate in having available all the Harvard's field team of cross-country runners, also the runners of the freshman class, and many other runners of international fame during a period of four years.

In order to get the heart in its normal condition and size, with the X-ray at rest, the runners were taken when there was no race in prospect, therefore no excitement in the runner's mind.

Then X-ray pictures were taken as the men finished their race, that is, after crossing the finish line, they ran into the X-ray room, and plates were taken before they had any time to rest.

What did the plates show? That the hearts after racing were actually "smaller" than they were when at rest.

It was further noted that the hearts of the distance runners who had had many years of distance running showed the greatest decrease.

Dr. Richards suggests that these hearts, contracted after severe exercise, might be explained as a form of muscle "cramp," which results in a smaller or contracted heart.

As the heart is so much smaller it will not continue to send blood up to the brain, and so the runner collapses.

As the runner collapses, thus asking the heart to do no more heavy work, the heart muscle is protected from doing itself any permanent harm.

My thought in writing about this is to show how Nature is always protecting us even against our will. It would also tend to show that men in good physical condition can undergo severe exertion without doing any permanent harm to the heart; the collapse being Nature's method of doing this.

"ONCE A GENTLEMAN" IS COLISEUM FEATURE

Brilliant Dialogue by Maude Fulton Contributes Largely to Success of Picture

Nine different careers and success in each of them, achieved in the space of time that most people devote to winning prominence in only one, makes Maude Fulton, dialogue writer of James Cruze's "Once a Gentleman" at the Coliseum Theatre, one of the most colorful personalities in the Hollywood film colony. Miss Fulton's witty, smart dialogue aids considerably in making this comedy the riotous succession of laughs that it is.

Miss Fulton has had nine artistic lives. In succession she has been concert pianist, composer, dancer, actress, magazine short story writer, playwright, director and theatre manager. As a dancer and actress she toured the country in a headline performance with William Rock; as a playwright she has to her credit such Broadway successes as "The Brat," and "The Humming Bird."

ROYAL "Bluebeard's Eighth Theatre Wife" finishes at the Royal Victoria Theatre tonight, and it may justly be said that the English Players have fully demonstrated the excellence of their reorganized company and the fine performances of the artists give promise of a splendid season of plays at the Royal during the coming winter.

The second production will be on Wednesday next, instead of Monday, as the Dumbells are showing at the Royal the first two days of the week.

PLAYHOUSE Will Jason and Van Theatre Burton wrote the music and lyrics for the musical comedy drama of adventure, "Wings of Adventure," in which Rex Lease, Armida and Clyde Cook will be seen at the Playhouse Theatre for the last time to day. Harry Frazer wrote the story.

DOMINION Cayetano's historic theatre circus-theatre, the social rendezvous of New Orleans in 1840, was reproduced in full detail for opening scenes of Radio Pictures' original melody play, "Dixiana," showing last night today at the Dominion Theatre.

Months of research and effort went into the consummation of the replica, according to Max Ree, art director.

CAPITOL Lupe Velez sings a delectable little song, "Chansonnade of Pierrette," in Universal's thrilling romantic drama, "The Storm," now on the screen of the Capitol Theatre.

"The Storm" is featured by breath-taking natural effects, including an avalanche, a blizzard and the shooting of the rapids of a raging river by canoe.

COLUMBIA "The Cocoanuts," starring Marx Brothers, is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. The picture is a typical musical comedy, boasting a trained chorus, beautiful costumes, luscious-looking girls and elaborate settings. "The Cocoanuts" is a delightful contribution to the spouting cinema. It will make the glumest of movie-goers giggle and those who love to laugh are in for an hour of fun.

Green Lantern Hotel, Chemainus, Is Subject of Board Ruling—Fines Total $1,800

Suspension of the licence of the Green Lantern Hotel, Chemainus, was announced by the Liquor Control Board on Thursday evening, effective from November 13. At the same time the board announced the result of prosecutions conducted against other persons, following a sudden raid by the Provincial Police early this morning, and in which fines of $300 were imposed in many cases.

Fines paid to date from the series amount to $1,800, for a partial return of five convictions secured.

Of five cases tried in the Nanaimo court, five convictions resulted, and fines of $300 were imposed in each case. These included prosecutions against Hamilton, Barclay, Martin, Clarke and Wyatt, in respect to the Elks' Home Club, the Canadian Legion, the Eagles' Club, the Army and Navy Veterans, all of Nanaimo, and the Elks' Club, of Duncan.

Three cases were heard at Kaslo, with similar results, against E. O. Deimling, W. J. Forsyth, F. Burnett, in respect to the Kaslo Hotel, the proprietor of a tobacco shop, and the proprietor of the Lakeview Hotel. At Courtenay, G. F. Green was fined $300 following a raid on the Elks' Club.

Prosecution against Max McCowan, of the Elks' Club, Port Alberni, is pending, hearing having been adjourned until November 17.

The Other Bullet

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

CHAPTER XXXXI
"You'll have to make that confession in writing, and the sheriff and I can witness it, but there's plenty of time for that," Peter announced as he bundled Lynn into Bossy's front seat beside him.

"They may hold you as a material witness, Schmitzler, but I guess you can stand that. You're the eyewitness corroboration of Lynn's self-defence plea, and more important that you've ever been in your life before, even if you do have to spend a few weeks in jail."

"It means nothing to me," Schmitzler said placidly. "I know how it happened, and I am willing to say so to anybody that asks me."

"We've got to act fast, and we've got to get the sheriff to give us the breaks," Peter continued reflectively. "We can't hold this story, and I don't want to break it without the other one. We've got to get into that safety deposit box, and spill the whole works. Gosh, what a yarn! But I've something to dicker with, and I guess I can pull it off."

"Maybe grandpa here can get me off on this murder charge, but how about the other one?" Lynn asked. "I know I shot this guy in self-defence, and for once, it looks like I can get it proved. But that ain't enough. That ain't what I've lived for, when I might better have wished I was dead. I never killed Mr. Jerome. That's what I want to see proved!"

"Gee, it'll be one peach of a trial," Peter sighed with deep contentment. "If we get the real dope out of that safety deposit box, they can bring Callahan over from San Quentin to tell about the robbery. Handled right, it'll all come out in the examination. But the beauty of it is, it'll have come out in the Herald first. I'm going to use your story before you put it in writing, Lynn, and God help me if you change it any."

"I ain't changin' it none," Lynn assured him gruffly. "You've done me a pretty good turn, and if you can get whatever was left in the bank, I'll be grateful."

"That's why I've got to bring the sheriff in on it right away," Peter informed him. "Nobody but Mortimer's heirs, or the police, have the right to have the box opened. But if I give him the credit for solving the Mortimer murder, Simpson ought to help us out with an order from the county treasurer to open the box."

"The treasurer won't know what it's all about, but he'll have to be there. That's where the dicker comes in. It's a story that'll put Hangtown on the map, all over the country. Only I've lost so much time by my own dumb-headedness that I'm scared to death somebody else may have used their wits while mine were picking wool."

"If I'd known sooner that there was a David de la Montanya, I wouldn't have been so thick in the skull," Peter said mournfully. "I let myself be thrown off the track by the idea that Jerome and Mortimer had to be the same person."

"I don't call that so dumb—I thought myself it was Jerome I saw in the mirror," Lynn said defensively.

"Well, but look how it was," Peter plunged with zest into the argument. "There were just three people who identified Jerome with Mortimer—supposing that it was Mortimer you really saw in the mirror? The fact was yourself, when you thought it was Jerome's departing soul."

"But you only saw a moving reflection in a mirror, and you were a colossal inner dignity in the man. The fellow, bony face, topped by unkempt, sleep-rumpled hair, was as immune to Peter's promises as to embarrassment at his absurd attire. Here was a man who did not care what Peter or anyone else thought of him—he did not need to care."

Peter suddenly held out his hand. "I owe you an apology, sheriff. I thought I could make a bargain with you."

"Yeah, I knowed you was after something." An almost imperceptible deepening of the wrinkles about his eyes was Simpson's near-approach to a smile. "If you'd lived in this country as long as I have, you'd have saved your breath. Bill Simpson never had no call to bargain."

"I was wrong," Peter admitted frankly. "All I wanted to ask of you was that you'd give my paper the break on the story."

"Well, you're the only reporter I see around—and goodness knows, one of you's enough. If there was more, I'd probably never get no rest at all. I ain't looking for more troubles than the Lord provides. Besides, you seem to have your uses."

"June Cook and Julio got married the other day. Mr. Cook got reconciled to the match, and they seem right happy. I've known June all her life, and for a while I was a bit worried about her. They seem to think you had something to do with getting around her ma."

"Thanks," Peter's grey eyes turned to the sheriff's with new earnestness. "You'll get the credit for catching Lynn and Schmitzler anyhow, because that's the way the story ought to be played. But there's one thing more that needs clearing up."

"I've got the number of Mortimer's safety deposit box in the city. I'm going to hand it over to you. I can't get into that box without you, and you can hold out on me if you want to."

"I'll give you all I've got—I can't very well do anything else. I was going to dicker with you to let Mrs. Everett and me go along with you to find what's in that box—but you haven't left me anything to dicker with."

"No, I ain't dickerin'. You're an almighty smart young man, and you thought once that I couldn't put you in jail, but I did. Then you climbed down off your high horse and asked me a favor."

The sheriff's voice dropped as if the subject had been exhausted. "And you did it!" Peter exclaimed. "You mean—?"

"Well, since you stirred up this shooting match again, I guess we'll have to go through with it and pick up the pieces. I don't doubt it's resting sort of heavy on Mr. Everett's mind, and maybe I was a bit hard on her a while back. I wouldn't want to do her any more harm than what's been done already." Simpson's eyes rested enquiringly on Peter's face.

"It means a lot to her," Peter said. "But what it means isn't going into my story."

Simpson nodded, a gleam of satisfaction glinting briefly in his pale eyes.

"I suppose I've got to get dressed and go down and open the jail and book Mr. Lynn and get his statement," the sheriff mused.

"That's all right with me," Lynn muttered, speaking for the first time. "Jail's no treat to me—but I'm glad to go, this time. I never saw any of you before, but I tell you, sheriff, this guy's square!"

"Yeah—except that he cooked up these pieces for the paper pretty much to suit himself," Simpson agreed drily.

will carry your name all over the state."

"I don't live all over the state," Simpson said mildly. "And I don't need no extra credit in Hangtown county. Folks already know me around here."

Something in Simpson's narrowed eyes caused Peter to squirm uncomfortably in his chair. There was a colossal inner dignity in the man. The fellow, bony face, topped by unkempt, sleep-rumpled hair, was as immune to Peter's promises as to embarrassment at his absurd attire. Here was a man who did not care what Peter or anyone else thought of him—he did not need to care."

"Mary," said the young girl's mother, looking with disapproval at her daughter, "did I or did I not see you sitting on that young man's knee when I passed the drawing-room last evening?"

"Why, yes mother," returned the girl, innocently, "and it was most embarrassing. I wish you hadn't told me to do it."

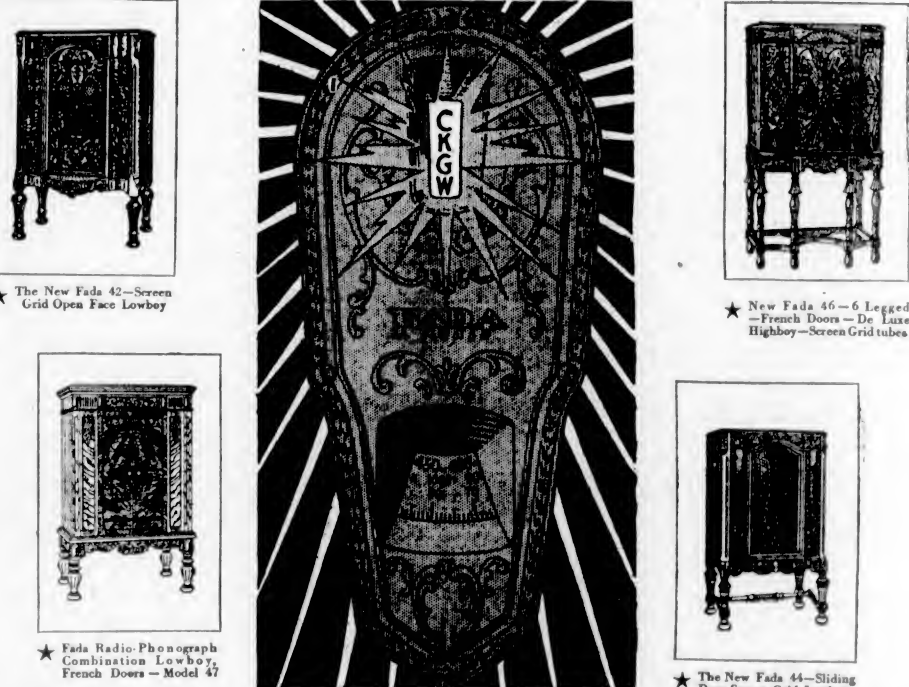

"Good gracious, girl!" snapped her mother. "I never told you to do anything of the kind."

"Oh, mother," exclaimed the girl in amazement, "of course you did! Don't you remember? You said if he attempts to get sentimental, I must sit on him."

He: "Didn't you see me at the party? Why, I saw you twice."

She: "I never notice people in that condition."

OILS PARTICIPATE IN MARKET IMPROVEMENT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—With Big Missouri leading the way, values on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, generally, turned upward today. Big Missouri, under the influence of improved copper values, shot up 7 cents to 50 on an extremely active display. ## POWELL RIVER BOAT SERVICE IS DISCUSSED

Courtenay Board of Trade Seeks Extension of Run Up River to City

ENDEAVOR TO OBTAIN INDUSTRY ENDORSED

COURTENAY, Nov. 14.—Many matters of importance to the district were before the members of the Board of Trade here on Tuesday night. The action of the industrial committee in its endeavor to interest a British woolens mill to locate in this vicinity was endorsed by the meeting.

Following a full discussion on the present proposed national park for Vancouver Island, to include Long Beach and the Forbidden Plateau area, it was decided to address a letter to A. W. Neill, M.P., asking him to press for such a park.

The transportation committee submitted an interesting report on its efforts to have a portion of Comox Harbor set aside as an airport. Further action is to be taken.

GASOLINE PRICES

A warm discussion followed a proposal to adopt the recommendation of the transportation committee which would point out the spread of price for gasoline between this point and other places on the island and would request the oil companies to reduce the price accordingly.

High prices here were shown to be adversely affecting the consumer and the retailer. On going to the vote the opinion of the members as to the advisability of the meeting to pass the motion was shown to be evenly divided. The president announced that in view of a report from a retailer of gasoline present, that the matter was about to be taken up with the companies, he would decline the motion.

POWELL RIVER MARKET

Another report from the transportation committee dealt at length with the Powell River boat situation. At a recent meeting, the owner of the boat now on the run was reported to have given a verbal promise that he will keep the boat on the service for at least six months. The necessity of organizing the farmers was stressed. Efforts were being made to sign up fifty dairymen to form a milk pool and sufficient fruit and vegetable producers so that their produce might also be pooled.

The present plan would be to mark time until the producers definitely show their intention of co-operating in this way, and then to press the claim for a Government subsidy and to make every effort to get the mail contract as far as practicable for the boat.

The great benefit to the people of the district was pointed out by one of the members in having the boat operated up the river to Courtenay rather than using Comox as its terminus on this run. This would add to the comfort of freight and passengers and would be of great use when pressing for a completion of the river dredging program.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Rather an alarming view of the present unemployment situation was voiced by one of the members who was successful in getting the meeting to resolve "That this board looks with fear on the future." A committee appointed was instructed to ascertain the intention of the Provincial Government with regard to work to be undertaken in the district and to ascertain the amount of appropriation for this work.

NANAIMO, Nov. 14.—On the average of 256 and high score of 274.

In the Commercial League, Shell Oil took three straight games from Billiard Hall, with E. Tierney, playing for the Oilers, with high score of 288 and T. Glendon, of the same team, high average with 206.

In the same fixture, Ryan Co. took two out of three from the Gyros, with Dr. A. Hall, for the Gyros, with high score of 248, and R. Ingham, for Ryan, high average with 212.

PLAY PRESENTED AT VETERANS' REUNION OF DUNCAN BRANCH

DUNCAN, Nov. 14.—Two hundred veterans assembled at the Guides' Hall here, Wednesday night, for the fifth annual ex-service men's reunion, held under the auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Guy Boyer, district secretary for the district, occupied the chair. An amusing play, "Trench Fever," was put on by the Parker-Henderson Players, and Comrade L. J. Hamilton gave a very clever display of conjuring. A number of comrades and others contributed to an excellent musical program.

N. Cowichan Council Makes Presentation

DUNCAN, Nov. 13.—At a special meeting of the North Cowichan Council, held yesterday, James Gilbert, an engineer from Vancouver, was selected from a list of twenty-one applicants for the position of municipal road superintendent. Mr. Gilbert will take over the duties of his office on Wednesday next.

At the conclusion of the council meeting, Rev. Tisdall extended congratulations to Councilor Coates, of Soanemo, on his marriage, and on behalf of the members of the council and members of the office staff, presented him with a handsome case of cutlery. In accordance with an old superstition and at the Reeve's suggestion, the councillor crossed the hand of each of those who had contributed to the gift, with silver. Some amusement was caused when Mr. Coates, after starting with the Reeve, crossed the hand of the hand of Assistant Clerk Johnson, the last name on the list, with a coin of considerably greater value.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

PARKSVILLE, Nov. 14.—The memorial service held at the Memorial Cross in Parksville was well attended. Some sixty veterans paraded under the command of E. J. Feary. The service was conducted by the Legion chaplain, Rev. E. B. Arrol, and the vicar, Rev. C. H. Popham.

NANAIMO, Nov. 14.—The funeral of John Lemon took place on Wednesday at the home of the deceased, Mrs. Lemon, 42 Pine Street. Rev. Canon Hutchins conducted the services at the chapel and graveside. Miles B. ty-five years, the deceased had resided in Nanaimo for the past twenty-four years.

The funeral will be held on Sunday at 2 o'clock, from the Jenkins Chapel, under the auspices of the Christian Brethren.

SIDNEY BOARD TRIES TO GET GLASS FACTORY

Provincial Government to Be Asked to Construct Various Roads in District

HARBOR PROTECTION DELEGATION CHOSEN

SIDNEY, Nov. 14.—The monthly meeting of the Sidney Board of Trade was held in Wesley Hall on Tuesday evening. Rev. T. Keyworth was welcomed as a new member. Matters under discussion included unemployment relief, the negotiations for a public building for Sidney, the renewed endeavor to secure harbor protection for the port, and road development within the district.

An endeavor is to be made to encourage the starting of a plant to manufacture glass on Sidney Island, as it has been discovered that the sand on the Sidney Island Spit is very suitable for this purpose.

The Public Works Department is to be asked to build a road from Centre Road to the West Saanich Road, west from Range Road, for the benefit of children attending North Saanich Public School. Other road construction to be requested includes a connection between Marine Drive and the West Road, via Wilson Road, and a connecting road between the West Saanich Road at its office on the Marine Road at Deep Cove, via the Towner Park Road.

Reports were presented of the operations of the executive of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island last week, and also of the visits of Mr. Dickie, the Federal engineer, Mr. Gourlay, assistant engineer of the Dominion Public Works Department, and of Mr. Haynes, the postoffice inspector, in connection with the board's efforts to secure public works from the Dominion Government for Sidney.

A committee composed of the president, Mr. Lyle, G. H. Walton, and the secretary, was appointed to interview the public works engineer in Victoria to discuss an alternative scheme for harbor protection.

SALT SPRING ISLAND COMMEMORATES DAY

SALT SPRING ISLAND, Nov. 14.—A very large gathering of islanders attended the war memorial service held at the War Memorial at Ganges. At 10:30 a.m. the veterans, Boy Scouts and Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies, assembled in the Agricultural Ground and marched to the memorial where the I.O.D.E. Sunshine Guild and other ladies' organizations were well represented.

The service began at 10:45 a.m.

with the reading of the lesson by Rev. George Aitkens, a prayer said by Rev. George Dean followed. The hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" was sung. The Last Post, sounded by Sergeant Drysdale, 16th Canadian Scottish, preceded the two minutes' silence, which was followed by the reading of the lesson by Rev. George Aitkens. Prayers were laid on the base of the memorial by the veterans, I.O.D.E., Boy Scouts and Girl Guides and other ladies.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. George Aitkens.

The Armistice dinner held at Harbor House on Tuesday evening was attended by about forty veterans, Major F. C. Turner, D.S.O., president of the returned soldiers, in the chair. The toast to the King and the silent toast to fallen comrades, were followed by "The Navy," recited to by Lieutenant V. C. Morris; "The Army," responded to by Captain M. Macintosh, M.C., and "Our Guests," responded to by Sergeant Drysdale. A programme of music followed, Mr. Headley and P. Lowther rendering vocal and musical items. Mr. Headley also contributed a recitation, "The Ball of Nassew," songs were rendered by Captain M. Macintosh, M.C., V. C. Morris, T. Burckett and others.
